SCOPE OF REPRESENTATION

Taylor Law, PLLC, has been retained in this matter to assist the Client in accomplishing a conveyance of real property from one person or entity to another. Taylor Law, PLLC, has advised the parties about the importance of a title search which would include examination of the public records to determine if there are liens against the property, chain of title, etc., but the Client has elected to proceed without the benefit of a title examination and therefore assumes all risks associated with Client's decision to accept title without the benefit of a title examination and protection of title insurance. Client shall therefore hold Taylor Law, PLLC, its successors and assigns harmless from any loss, liability, or damage associated with Client's decision to proceed without the benefit of a title examination and the protection of title insurance.

Taylor Law, PLLC, cannot give tax advice. It is important that you seek the advice of a tax accountant or CPA anytime you are gifting assets. Taylor Law, PLLC, recommends that you seek advice and consultation prior to any conveyance and will not be held liable for any resulting tax implications that gifting property may or may not have.

Upon receipt of the completed Deed Transfer Information Form, we will prepare the deed and reach out to you to schedule the signing appointment. At the appointment, be sure that all parties signing have a valid, unexpired, signed photo identification to ensure proper notarization of documents. Failure to comply with this requirement will result in delays and possibly rescheduling fees. Fees are due at the time of signing.

Upon execution and payment in full to Taylor Law, PLLC, our office will record the deed and mail you the original after recording. We will provide a copy of the unrecorded but fully executed deed at the signing appointment. Taylor Law, PLLC is not responsible for mail. If you prefer to pick up your deed, please let us know at your signing appointment.
